JAPAN PLANS ATTACK ON SINGAPORE; MUSSOLINI TELLS AMERICA STAY OUT

ATTACKING GERMAN WARPLANES UNSEEN AS RESULT OF HAZE

ANTI-AIRCRAFT BARRAGES SO HEAVY LONDON TRAFFIC WAS HALTED TODAY

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Anti-aircraft barrages so heavy as to tie up traffic marked a late afternoon attack on London by unseen German raiders today and some British quarters suggested that the Nazi air offensive may have turned to "blind" high altitude bombardment.

A few hours later, shortly after dark, the Germans came back to begin the 27th consecutive night assault on London. Anti-aircraft guns in Central London crashed into action a few seconds after the warning sirens wailed.

During the late afternoon raid anti-aircraft shell fragments fell like hail on the city.

Nazi raiders thrust at the capital through a thick haze in their fourth visit of the day, showering bombs on northwest and southeast sections. Anti-aircraft guns sent up constant streams of exploding steel.

Cabbies who in the past have plied their trade in the worst barrages refused to stir this evening either from their outlying stands for trips into the central part of the city or from central stands to the suburbs.

The attacking planes were hidden by the murk, apparently finding London only through use of flying instruments.

Some British sources said that this might mark a new phase of the luftwaffe offensive—flight above the clouds beyond anti-aircraft range, location of London by instruments of navigation and then a tripping of bomb racks.

It would be impossible with such technique to pick out objectives within the city.

Haze Turned to Red.

After the air raid warning had been on more than an hour the mounting intensity of the barrages had turned the London haze to a glowing red. Droning motors could be heard above the roar of the guns.

Aside from attacks on London, points in the Thames valley, Essex Kent and Cornwall, the daylight raiders struck at the industrial midlands, where a city and a small town suffered "a number of casualties, including a few fatal injuries," according to a late afternoon communique of the air and home security ministries.

A "number" of persons were killed or seriously injured by bombing and machine-gunning of a town in the home counties—the London area—and a train was machine gunned with a few slight casualties, the communique said.

The ministries described the attacks on London as the operations of single planes and said that several houses in "a number of London boroughs" were demolished by bombs dropped at random." The communique said the London casualties were not expected to be heavy.

Rooftop spotters sought cover. The typically English murk made it impossible to see the planes or gauge the direction of the "archies'" fire.

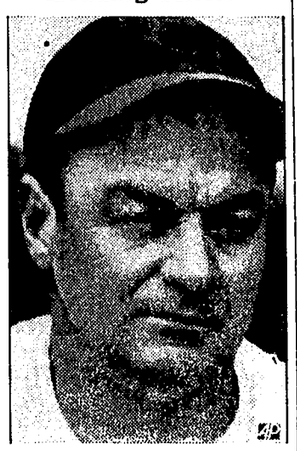

Drops Entire Load Bombs.

One raider dropped his entire load of bombs in a southeast district. Firing by directional finders, the anti-aircraft gunners threw up a heavy barrage. The plane was heard droning off in the distance.

Three girls were killed in a Southeastern section of the city

Leading Hitter

Jimmy Wilson, 40-year-old veteran, was the only man in the Cincinnati lineup Thursday to gather two hits off Rowe and Gorsica and took a big role in the rally in the second inning that tied the score. After two years of retirement he returned to active duty when Ernie Lombardi was injured.

CAMPAIGN DIRECTOR UNITED CHARITIES REPORTS TO BOARD

AROUND TWO-THIRDS OF AMOUNT NEEDED HAS BEEN CONTRIBUTED

Approximately two-thirds of the needed budget goal of $6,000 has been contributed to the United Charities campaign according to the report made by the Rev. C. R. Haden, Jr., drive chairman, to the board of directors of the organization Thursday morning.

Gifts to date have amounted to $4,161.25 according to the report, and the chairman announced that efforts would be continued to reach the needed amount, pointing out that donations in the future weeks and around the Christmas season might be sufficient. It was again pointed out that a minimum of $6,000 was needed to adequately care for the poor and needy in Corsicana. Rev. Haden asserted the fact that 450 individual contributors to the recent campaign indicated the citizens of the city were interested in their less fortunathe neighbors.

A number of committees for the remainder of the year were named by President R. L. Hamilton. The commitees follow:

Public Relations: Rev. C. R. Haden, Jr., chairman; Mrs H. R. Stroube, and Robert Cason. This committee will receive any complaints aganst the work of the organization and will also keep the public informed of the efforts to meet the needs of any situation.

Finance: Louis Wolens, chairman; W. P. McCammon, and Mrs. Ben Blackmon. This group will formulate plans for securing new members and for the annual campaign for funds.

Nominating: F. C. Paul, chairman; E. M. Polk, Jr., J. A. Sowell, and Mrs. Homer B. Jester.

The board unanimously expressed its appreciation to all who aided in the campaign and especially to the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal church for providing the opening breakfast of the recent drive.

CINCINNATI EVENED WORLD SERIES WITH DETROIT THURSDAY

MASTERFUL HURLING WALTERS HELD THE AMERICAN LEAGUERS TO THREE HITS

CROSLEY FIELD, Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds evened the world series today, beating the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 3, in the second contest behind the masterful three-hit hurling of Bucky Walters. Scholboy Rowe, the Tiger ace, gave up eight hits and all five Cincinnati runs before going to the showers after three and one-third innings.

Walters started poorly, walking the first two men up, Bartel and McCosky, in the opening frame. They scored on Charley Gehringer's single and a fielder's choice, and the Tigers appeared on their way.

But the Reds, smarting under "they can't hit" criticism, banged into Rowe for four hits and two runs in the second, tacked together a single and Jim Ripple's screeching homer for two more in the third, and clinched it with another in the fourth on consecutive doubles by Walters and Bill Werber.

The only Tiger gesture after that came in the sixth when Charley Gehringer forced McCosky at second, after McCosky had walked, and then came home from first on Hank Greenberg's sizzling double against the scoreboard.

Today's game wound up at the opening set at Cincinnati, the teams moving on to Detroit for Friday, Saturday and Sunday contests, then back here Monday and Tuesday if necessary.

Manager Del Baker said he would start Tom Bridges, his curve ball specialist, against the Reds in the opener at Detroit, while Skipper McKechnie of the Reds was wavering between Junior Thompson and Jim Turner.

Wells Believes Germany Getting Near End Rope

By JOHN A. MOROSO III

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(AP)—H. G. Wells, British author, arrived today on the liner Scythia and said. "I think Jerry (Nazi Germany) is getting near the end of his tether."

Some of the planes recently shot down in England were newly completed, he said; some of the pilots young and inexperienced, and "one machine gunner we got had never been up in a plane before."

Wells said he did not believe America should enter the war. "If you came into the war with your party politics, it would interfere with final settlement," he declared.

The Scythia, with 808 passengers, ninety of them children coming under arrangement of the U. S. committee for the care of European children, was the first of three British liners scheduled to arrive during the day with a total of 1,723 refueges. The Samaria, with 814 passengers, and the Western Prince, with 101, neared New York harbor.

ARMY TESTS 'GNAT-TANK'

This tough looking vehicle, known as the "gnat-tank," is undergoing Army tests at Baltimore preliminary to a 1000-mile cross-country "torture" grind. The midget armored car, designed to carry three soldiers, a .30 calibre swivel-mounted machine gun, and 3000 rounds of ammunition, has an 80-inch wheelbase, seats like granite, over-sized tractor-tread tires and four-wheel drive. Shown are a front and side view of it.

NAVY PLANNING PUT ATLANTIC FLEET ON FORMIDABLE FOOTING

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF MAIN FLEET COMING TO WASHINGTON FOR CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Navy gave emphasis to its two-ocean policy today with preparations for putting its Atlantic forces on a more formidable footing, and the announcement that the commander-in-chief of the main fleet was coming here from Hawaii for conferences "on the general situation in the Pacific."

Secretary of Navy Knox contributed to the interest in the coming visit of Admiral James O. Richardson when he told a press conference yesterday he thought a suggestion for a naval good will cruise to Australia and New Zealand was a "good idea," although there had been no decision.

Plans for establishment of "a newly organized force" in the Atlantic were disclosed late yesterday by the navy department. The squadron, to be known as "The patrol force, United Fleet," will consist of more than 125 vessels and the necessary complement of aircraft.

There was no indication in navy circles whether creation of the new force had any connection with the recently negotiated mutual assistance pact between Berlin, Rome and Tokyo. An Atlantic squadron has been in existence two years, but the new organization is designed to strengthen it and unify its command.

Secretary Knox also said his department would not "let any grass grow under our feet" in development of the Atlantic bases

Special Election Friday To Select Corsicana Mayor

Little interest has been manifested in the special city election scheduled for Friday to name a mayor for the unexpired term of J. S. Murchison, who resigned recently. John C. Calhoun is the only announced candidate and his name will appear alone on the official ballot.

The polls will open at 8 a. m., and close at 6 p. m., with indications of a light vote. The four voting places and presiding officials are:

Ward One — McKee Lumber Company, W. F. Morris.

Ward Two—Fire Station No. 2, L. W. Ashmore.

Ward Three—Courthouse, George W. Boyd.

Ward Four—City Hall, C. S. Wood.

A recessed session of the city commission is scheduled for 6:30 Friday evening to complete the regular meeting cut short Tuesday, and to canvass results of the election.

Mario Appellus, the paper's leading commentator, calling Singapore "the pivot of British positions in East Asia, declared:

"Japan is seeking to place itself in the best possible position strategically against Singapore in anticipation of being forced by English hostility or the intervention of new allies of England to attack and throw down the pillar of Singapore."

APPEASEMENT PRIME MINISTER OF BRITAIN HAS QUIT CABINET

ILL HEALTH DRIVES CHAMBERLAIN FROM CHURCHILL'S WAR GOVERNMENT

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Ailing Neville Chamberlain former prime minister under whom Britain entered the war against Germany, dropped out of the government today, and Prime Minister Churchill reshuffled his cabinet to give labor a more prominent role.

The man whose tightlyrolled umbrella came to scymbolize his pre-war policy of appeasement toward totalitarian rulers, resigned both from his post as Lord President of the council, which he had held since his cabinet fell last May after the ill-fated campaign against the Germans in Norway, and from the inner war cabinet.

Chamberlain also retained his leadership of the conservative party, which he retained when he gave way to Churchill as prime minister last may.

The authoritative press association said "it is a foregone conclusion" that Churchill would succeed him as party leader.

In quitting the political arena to return to private life, the 71 yearold Chamberlain expressed his "unshaken confidence" that under Churchill's leadership, Britain "with her allies and associates will succeed in overcoming the forces of barbarism which have reduced a great part of Europe to a condition little better than slavery."

In reply, Churchill expressed admiration for Chamberlain's aid and said, "You did all you could for victory."

Changes In Government.

Changes in Churchill's government, announced simultaneously, increased the size of the inner war cabinet from six to eight members, but observers who had predicted a sweeping realignment were surprised both by the limited scope of the alterations and the choice of new appointees.

The most important changes included transfer of Laborite Herbert Morrison from the supply ministry to the combined job of secretary for the home department and minister of home security, and naing of Labor Minister Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood to the important inner cabinet.

Sir John Anderson, who was minister of home security, took Chamberlain's place in the war cabinet and as Lord President of the council.

Prior to the announcement, political circles had expected that War Secretary Anthony Eden would be elevated to the post of foreign secretary, which he held before splitting with Chamberlain over appeasement in 1938, and al-

GERMANS HAMMERED AT TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM OF BRITAIN

DESTRUCTIVE RAIDS MADE ON RAILWAYS AND SHIPPING REPORTED FROM BERLIN

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Destructive hammering of Britain's transport agencies—her railways, docks and shipping—in raids by sea and air was reported by the German high command today.

The Highland Patriot, 14,172-ton armed British merchantman, it said, was among nine such vessels sunk by U-boats in the Nazi counerblockade.

There was an official admission, however, that seven German planes assigned to aerial operations yesterday, were missing, against a total of only six British planes known to have been shot down.

The Nazi war directorate said specifically that German operations in the past twenty-four hours included "great damage" to railways in the center of bomb-battered London and heavy hits in the bend of the Thames east of the city's heart, where the great East India and Milwall docks are situated.

The high command gave no details of the sinking of the Highland Patriot.

Yesterday German bombers hit shipping and industries necessary railways, storehouses, oil tanks, for waging modern war, the command's communique set forth. It declared British bombers had little luck in bombing Berlin.

Last night planes driving on Berlin were diverted from their course by anti-aircraft fire and one bomber was shot down, crashing in flames north of Berlin, said the high command. The city's 4,000,000 residents underwent an hour and 12 minutes of alarm, routed from their beds for the fifth consecutive night.

BILLION AND HALF MILITARY BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

LAST MAJOR DEFENSE MEASURE NOW BEFORE CONGRESS SENT BACK TO HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—A $1,482,000,000 military appropriations bill, last major defense pending before congress, was passed today by the senate.

The bill, containing funds funds to outfit and maintain a peacetime army of 1,399,441 men, now goes back to the house for action on senate increases which totaled $12,700,000.

Approving the measure, the senate allocated $1,248,000,000 in cash and $150,000,000 in contract authority to the army. It gave the navy $75,401,000 in direct appropriations and $8,500,000 in contract authority.

Approximately 85 per cent of the army's appropriation would go toward feeding, clothing, equipping, paying and training 1,024,441 national guardsmen and conscripts to be called into the service to supplement the army's 375,000 regulars.

There was little discussion of the big bill.

The outlook was not so favorable, however, for a preparedness airport construction program. Disagreement over this measure put a new stumbling block in the way of a congressional recess.

The $200,000,000 war department civil functions bill, when passed by the house, contained an $80,000,000 item for the start of work on 4,000 new airports.

The threat of trouble over the civils functions bill arose after elimination of the air port construction provisions already voted by the house.

The appropriations committee cut out this item when it approved the measure yesterday, but Senator Adams (D-Colo) said he would not be surprised if administration sentiment developed for its return to the bill. The proposed expenditure — $30,000,000 in cash and $50,000,000 in contract authority—would be made under direction of the civil aeronautics authority.

Asserting that the CAA's proposal to build 4,000 airports was "outrageous," Adams said he would oppose any effort to ever-

ASSAULT BY FORCES OF THREE NATIONS IS THREATENED FOR U. S.

IL DUCE'S NEWSPAPER LISTS FORCE OF NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE TO BE USED

By The Associated Press

Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper said today that Japan is preparing for a possible attack on Britain's vital Far East naval base at Singapore and warned the United States that intervention would bring an assault by the combined forces of Germany, Italy and Japan.

These forces were listed as 20,000,000 soldiers, 2,000,000 tons of warships and between 25,000 and 30,000 warplanes.

The newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, said Japan was getting ready "in anticipation of being forced by British hostility or the intervention of new allies of England to attack and throw down the pillar of Singapore."

By "new allies," the newspaper obviously referred to the United States—specially in the light of recent reports that United States warships might be stationed at Singapore.

On the war front, Nazi raiders striking through a dense haze over England attacked London four times, raining bombs on the capital's northwest and southeast sections.

Anti-aircraft "Archies," firing by directional finders in the murk, set up a terrific barrage.

Prime Minister Winston Churchiyy shuffled his war cabinet today to give labor a bigger role after Ex-Premier Neville Chamberlain, 71-year-old "appeasement man of Munich," resigned from the government.

King George VI accepted the resignation, which served to strengthen Churchill's already popular and powerful regime pledged to "fight to the end" against Adolf Hitler.

Chamberlain, in failing health after an abdominal operation in July, sent Churchill a message expressing "unshaken confidence" that his leadership would carry Britain to victory over "the forces of barbarism which have reduced a great part of Europe to a condition little better than slavery."

Authorized Nazi quarters in Berlin, commenting on the shuffle, said curtly:

"It shows something's rotten in England.

"Prime Minister Churchill, under pressure, had to sacrifice someone to show that he's active—and Old Man Chamberlain came in handy."

Chamberlain's poor health undoubtedly prompted his resignation, but he had been under fire by Britons anxious to rid the war cabinet of the last trace of the "appeasement policy" which Chamberlain vainly sought to placate Hitler and Mussolini and preserve "peace in our time."

Survived Other Crises.

He had survived several crises through the early months of the war, but the Narvik debacle and the withdrawal of British troops from Norway forced his resignation last May 10—the day Hitler's legions invaded the low countries to strike at France.

With retirement of the peace-seeking "umbrella man" Prime Minister Churchill was expected to take over Chamberlain's leadership of the dominant conservative party, reinforcing his present practically dictatorial powers.

Churchill's first move, after sending a message to Chamberlain saying "You did all you could

SYNTHETIC CLOTHING IS BEING MADE FROM COAL BY SCIENTIFIC METHODS OF GERMAN CHEMISTS

By ERNEST G. FISCHER.

BERLIN — (Correspondence of The Associated Press) — From coal, magic mineral in the hands of German chemists, has come synthetic clothing.

In addition to brushing his teeth and running his truck on coal products, the German laborer now can wear work clothes made of coal and lime.

And he can go fishing with a net or line of the same material!

One factory for the manufacture of such fiber has been established, it was revealed by the German dye trust—or I. G. Farben.

Processes and machines are being perfected in this plant with a view to mass production.

Popularly referred to as "peluran fiber," the new material is listed by the Dye Trust as PeCe fiber.

Advantages claimed for it are that it does not require cleaning and sterilization preliminary to manufacture, that it is acid and heat resistant, that it does not absorb water and that it surpasses natural silk in elasticity.

The fiber is heat resistant to at least 200 degrees centigrade, according to representatives of the Dye Trust. That means clothes made of this material can be cooked like any other in the laundry. Its acid resistance makes it desirable for work clothes in chemical plants and for filtering cloths used in the chemical industry.

The manufacturing process was sketched as follows:

Coal and lime are heated in an electric furnace to 1800 degrees centigrade to form calcium carbide, which with water added, forms acetylene, which, with hydrochlorine added, forms what chemists call vinylchloride. This substance, raised to a high temperature or intensively irradiated by light, develops into a white firm substance. It polymerizes into polyvinylchloride.

After thermoplastic and other treatments the liquid is forced through fine openings which forms fibers of uniform thickness and strength, to the desired length.

The weaving process is the same as for artificial silk.

PeCe is a sister product of Pe-U, a synthetic bristle which is replacing horsehair in Germany, for making many kinds of brushes, including toothbrushes.

Thus coal, which is the source of much of Germany's gasoline, also is contributing numerous products to factory, home and wardrobe.

OVER HUNDRED CANDIDATES HAVE BEEN SELECTED RUN FOR THIRTY-FIVE SEATS U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—More than a hundred candidates, including two governors, three former governors, and four congressmen, have been selected to run for the 35 senate seats to be filled in the November 5 elections.

Utah's run-off Republican primary on Tuesday, won by Philo T. Farnsworth, Jr., completed the slate of major party senatorial nominees who will be on the ballot in 34 states.

Vermont picks two senators this year, one for a short, unexpired term. Maine elected its new senator, Ralph O. Brewster, a republican, Sept. 9, making 36 senators being elected for terms beginning next January.

For the 35 places being voted on next month, the democrats have named 34 candidates. Senator Hiram Johnson, veteran California republican, won the other democratic nomination, as well as the republican and progressive.

Republicans have chosen 33 senate candidates, leaving uncontested the seats of Senators Byrd (D-Va) and Andrews (D-Fla).

The communist party has placed senatorial candidates on the ballot in Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Texas and Virginia. It was ruled off the ballot in several states.

Socialists so far have candidates for seven senate posts; socialist-labor and prohibition parties four each; farmer-labor, independent, progressive (LaFollette), labor, socialist - workers, constitutional independent, square deal, and industrial government one each.

Candidates wearing more than one party label, besides Senator Johnson, are Senators Maloney (D-Conn), also union party, and Mead (D-NY), also American-labor.

Twenty-seven incumbent senators, including 19 democrats, 6 republicans, 1 progressive and 1 farmer-labor (Shipstead, Minn., as a republican), have won renomination.

Four sitting democrats—Burke, Neb.; Holt, W. Va.; King, Utah, and Ashurst, Ariz.—and one republican — Frazier, N. D. — were defeated for renomination. Three others—Donahey (D-Ohio); Schwellenbach (D-Wash), and Gibson (R-Vt), are not running next

MARY TOLD THE DOCTOR; HENCE THE NATIVITY STORY*

Only Luke, the Physician, Could Have Learned the Intimate Details of the Birth of Jesus From the Mother—How Historical Research Supports the Gospel.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Where did the Evangelists get the stories about Jesus of which they were not personally witnesses? They were not revealed to them in visions, or on hidden golden plates, like Joseph Smith's Book of Mormon. They did not come in epileptic transports, like Mohammed's Koran.

We can understand that Mark derived his material largely from Peter; and that Luke learned heavily upon Paul. But this generalization made, there remain such major records as Luke's account of the Nativity—the greatest story in all literature. It has all the warmth and intimacy of a personal experience. Yet Luke was not there.

Naturally, the answer is that Luke was a physician and in later life a friend of Mother Mary. Only she could have told this tale; and only to a doctor. To a physician one confides what is withheld from others.

A Greater Than Diana in Ephesus.

I like to think that Mary went to Ephesus with John, as both the Greek and Roman Churches teach, and was the object of the reverent love of all the Christians. In the quiet of John's home she had long talks with this courteous, tactful physician, Luke, who combined scholarship with saintliness. Naturally, a woman would reminisce; and to this sympathetic physician she would confide, in greater fullness than to others, the wonders of the miraculous Birth.

With delicacy and restraint and vividness, Luke set down the Story that was destined to change the world. With a bookman's trained mind, he had undertaken to record the whole Gospel Story for the growing Christian community, and for the generations to come.

He was a Greek, and had all of his countrymen's sense of the dramatic and the vivid, and of what newspaper men call 'human interest." He had "the itch to write." The sense of order and of accuracy was strong within his active mind. He was a born historian. Others had seen more than he, and had been closer to many of the events; but his zeal for an orderly record sent him upon the great task of research and of writing. He checked and doubled-checked his sources. And all the centuries of scholarship since have validated his narrative.

An Emperor Attests an Author.

One incident reveals how the story has "stood up" throughout the ages. He told in detail of the census which brought the Holy Family to Bethlehem. Yet in all the abundant historical records that have survived from Roman days there was no known mention of this census. Critics assailed Luke as unreliable. For nearly twenty centuries it was Luke against the world.

Now, lo! there has been found at Ankara, the capital of Turkey, a half-ruined temple of Augustus, with the Emperor's last will or autobiography, incised on the inside of the wall in Latin and on the outside of the wall in Greek cut there by the order of the Roman senate at the death of Augustus.

And in the Emperor's own words we have mentioned of the hitherto unverified census, dated by consulships. Now we know that Luke was utterly right; and that it was in B. C. 8 that this census was decreed. Luke was reliable; his critics are confounded.

Checking Up on Luke.

Sir William Ramsay, the noted scholar and archaeologist, checked all the historical medical, geographical and philological references, and declared that he could not find a single error in all of Luke's writings. Contrast Luke's geographical accuracy with, for instance, Scott's "Talisman," which is a jumble of geographical blunders.

It is a fair use of imagination to picture Luke as seizing upon every scrap of information that he could gain from eye-witnesses, and then, at the end of the day, by the light of a flickering olive-oil lamp, writing out his notes, later to be shaped up into his two books. Remember, he was a contemporary of Jesus, and the names of the eye-witnesses of the wonders was legion. In all probability, Luke had seen Jesus himself, although there is no mention of his name in the Gospels.

"Human Interest" Stories

Because Luke was a literary master we have, recorded only by him, such deathless masterpieces as the Story of the Good Samaritan, the Parable of the Prodigal Son; and best of all, the account of the Nativity itself. My best friend, Louis A Holman, of Boston, died recently, leaving behind him the fullest and most detailed collection of Keatsiana in all the world. His devotion to Keats had engrossed him for many years; and, day by day, with patient research, he added to his precious store. So it was, I think, with Luke: he was always in quest of information about Jesus Christ.

There seems to have been none of the famous instability of the Greeks about Luke. He began one work of service to Christ, and continued it modestly and steadfastly to the end. He does not mention his own name in either his Gospel or the Acts.

A Modest Historian.

We may, however, trace his experiences with Paul in the "we" passages, which begin in the sixteenth chapter of Acts. Thenceforth Luke shared the adventures and experiences of the great missionary apostle. He even went with him to prison in Caesarea and in Rome.

Paul mentions him tenderly three times in his epistles. (Philemon 1:23, 24; Colossians 4:14; II Timothy 4:10, 11.) We can only surmise what tender, healing care he gave to God's great adventurer, who called him "the beloved physician." During Paul's prison experiences in Rome apparently his other helpers left the apostle, for one reason or another, so that in his last letter, written to Timothy, he says, "Only Luke is with me."

Glorious Luke, who stood by to the end! He had abandoned his own career, and the chances for a brilliant practice, that he might devote himself to Christ's cause, and to Christ's man. For that decision the Church in all the world, throughout the ages, is grateful.

We who are only common people, with our rough and simple ways and unseeing eyes, are grateful for such sensitive interpretations of history and of truth as the Greek physician, Luke, gave. Because his character, and his profession, made special appeal to her, Mary opened the secrets of a woman's heart to him. How delicately he tells the tale of Mary and Elizabeth; and of the Annunciation to the girl in the village of Nazareth; and of the wonders of the Birth in the Bethlehem inn! Because Luke knew Mary, we know, in the fullness of its beauty and significance, the story of the Nativity.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS.

Plain, common courage has much more influence than intellectual altitude.—Wilfred T. Grenfell.

A Christian is one who does for Christ's sake what he would not do otherwise.—Alexander Mackenzie.

Though much is taken, much abides; and though
We are not now that strength which in old days
Moved earth and heaven, that which we are we are.
One equal temper of heroic hearts
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.
—Tennyson.

The most manifest sign of wisdom is continued wisdom.—Montaigne.

Work not for the meat which perisheth but for the meat which abideth unto eternal life, which the Son of man shall give unto you; for him the Father, even God, hath sealed.—John 6:27.

No Life.

Can be pure in its purpose and strong in its strife.
And all life not be purer and stronger thereby.

Mrs. Rhoda Bounds Observed Birthday At Wortham Sunday

WORTHAM, Oct. 1.—(Spl.)—Mrs. Rhoda Bounds celebrated her 74th birthday Sunday, September 29, 1940, at her home in Wortham. At the noon hour an old fashioned birthday dinner, with turkey and all the trimmings, was served.

She was born in Newton county, Miss. In October, 1869, She came to Texas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Bledsoe, and settled in Navarro county five miles north of Wortham on their farm. She lived there until her marriage to the late T. A. Bounds, November 14, 1886. They lived in the large two story home, located on the well known "Bounds Hill" one mile north of Wortham.

Her children with their families were guests of the day, as follows: Oliver, Frank, Oscar and Ebb Bounds, Mrs. Margaret Means and Mrs. W. Eckhardt of Wortham and Ed Bounds of Richland. Thirteen grand children and eight great grandchildren were also present.

Mrs. Bounds has always been an inspiration to her friends and family and not only on the birthday but other special occasions were looked forward to as great events for gathering in the home. She has always been active in religious, educational and civic affairs and since the time of her husband's death in 1913 she has assumed all responsibilities of her estate and business matters. She has always been an active member of the Methodist Protestant church, she and her children being large contributors to the building of this beautiful brick church in Wortham. She was a stockholder and director in the First State Bank for years, until consolidation with the First National Bank.

Mrs. Bounds enjoys remarkable health and derives great pleasure in the activities of life. One of the outstanding thrills of her birthday party was her first airplane ride, the plane being owned and piloted by her grandson, Virgil Bounds. She took off smiling and waving her family and came down wanting to send a telegram to her sister, Mrs. T. B. Sherrill of Dallas, to meet her at Love Field.

for victory," as to increase the size of the inner war cabinet to eight members—adding Labor Minister Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood.

Air War Continues.

Sir John Anderson, former minister of home security, replaces Chamberlain in the war cabinet and as Lord President of the council.

Amid this political development, the war in the air continued relentlessly, with Britain's aerial counter-offensive striking far and wide.

Seventeen persons were killed and 20 wounded at Haarlem, in German-occupied Holland, in a pre-dawn attack described as the worst since the German Blitzkrieg last May.

Dutch sources said the raiders, presumably British, dropped 15 bombs in the city and also fired 120 acres of woodland in the adjacent countryside.

While London's bomb-shaken millions underwent their 26th consecutive night assault, the air ministry reported RAF raiders heavily attacked the great Krupp armament works at Essen and hurled explosives at targets in 14 other German or German-held cities—Hamburg, Stettin, Bottrop, Cologne, Hamm, Wilhelmshaven, Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Antwerp, Flushing, Ostend, Calais, Cherbourg and Ushant.

No Mention of Berlin.

The air ministry made no mention of an attack on Berlin, but Hitler's high command reported RAF planes "were driven from the original raid course by anti-aircraft fire" as they approached the German capital.

Berlin's 4,000,000 had their slumbers interrupted by a 72-minute alarm, and the capital's northwest industrial outskirts rumbled to the stammering din of anti-aircraft guns.

A German high command communique said Nazi warplanes pounded railways, docks and shipping in widespread night attacks on Britain.

The British said several "Molotoff breadbasket" incendiary bombs burst over a famous boys' school in Southeastern England. No casualties were reported, and a roof fire was extinguished quickly. (Eton and Harrow are in Southeast England.)

Other reports told of a Nazi plane dropping shrapnel bombs in a residential district in Southeast London.

Meanwhile, Vincent Sheehan, American foreign correspondent, declared on his arrival in New York aboard the Atlantic clipper that two "invasion alarms" have been sounded along the English Channel coast in the past six weeks—on Aug. 25 and Sept. 7—"bringing the army and navy spring to their stations."

Sheehan said the British released "chemical fog" during the Aug. 25 alarm. Reports of both alarms, he said, were banned by the British censorship.

Baptist Women Of Navarro Entertained Monday Afternoon

NAVARRO, Oct. 3. —(pecial).—The Navarro Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Baptist Church was entertained Monday evening, Sept. 30, with a social in the D. W. Montgomery home with Mrs. Montgomery as hostess.

Three entertaining contests were conducted by the hostess with Mr. Cowsar, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Poe and Mrs. Cheney announced as winners.

The living room was made more attractive with lovers of fall flowers. The hostess assisted by Mrs. Cheney served a dainty refreshment plate of salad on lettuce topped with a stuffed olive, crackers, potatoe chips, chocolate cake, and iced tea.

On departing the guests expressed having spent a delightful afternoon, and will meet Monday at the church in the regular Bible study.

MILDRED TO OPPOSE TRINIDAD TIGERS IN CONFERENCE GAME

HUBBARD AT DAWSON TILT WILL FEATURE NON-CONFERENCE ATTRACTIONS

Several important football games are scheduled this week-end in District 21-B, Interscholastic league,, headlined by the Trinidad and Mildred B division conference tussle at Trinidad. This brings together one of the two strongest clubs of the division.

Mildred Eagles opened the season campaign last week with a 25-6 decision over the Frost eleven at Mildred, while Trinidad showed the Tigers will likely be powerful when they humbled the Kerens Bobcats, defending bi-district champions, 12-6, at Kerens.

Another interesting affair is also carded in the district although the outcome does not count in the percentages. Hubbard, a member of the A division, invades Dawson, a class B club, in an annual melee between two traditional rivals.

Dawson opened the year last Thursday with a 6-0 victory against the Ennis High B eleven. Hubbard lost a conference clash with Blooming Grove 13-0 but previously had downed Frost and lost to Itasca in the season's initial appearance. The dope or standing does not hold good when Hubbard and Dawson meet. Anyone witnessing this melee, however, is guaranteed a real scrap.

Keren's Bobcats Idle.

Kerens, defending champions, will be idle this week as the mentors attempt to revamp their club after a couple of disasterous contests. The Bobcats were smothered, 63-0, by Waxahachie Indians in their first tilt and Trinidad downed them last week.

Milford invades Blooming Grove Friday for a non-conference stand. A good game is anticipated. Blooming Grove enthusiasts are predicting a succesful season following the win over Hubbard. Milford dropped a 6-0 count to Abbott last week, and will doubtless be coming back strong this week against the Lions.

Italy High, regarded by some as one of the stronger clubs of the entire district, does not have a game this week according to the original shedule announced at the meeting of the executive ommittee.

PLANNING PROGRAM FOR CONSERVATION DISTRICT STARTED

Supervisors of the Navarro-Hill conservation district met here this week and started planning a program of work for the district.

The supervisors will make a survey of the district and determine the various types of soil found. Landowners in various sections of the district will be asked to aid the officials.

The district supervisors are Thad Jones, Hubbard; E. Creekmore, Hillsboro; S. S. Hooser, Frost; R. M. Hudnall, Chatfield, and W. C. Pearce, Richland and Corsicana.

County agents and the farm security administration operatives of Hill and Navarro Counties met with the supervisors. Various governmental agencies will work with the officials.

No reason for the order was given, but observers expressed belief it was due to disturbed Japanese-American relations.

STATE HOME WILL ENTERTAIN WACO TEAM GARITTY FIELD FRIDAY

State Home Lads will entertain the Waco State Home club at Garity Field, here Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. This should be one of the best games of the season between two battling combinations.

While the State Home crew is not as potent as some former elevens, the squad is reported improving daily and should be in fine fettle for the battle against the Wacoans.

The Waco State Home has not lost a game since the 1938 season.

Reports the game would be played in Waco were in error, I S. Halley, superintendent of the local institution, announced Wednesday afternoon.

No conference games are slated this week in District 16-A of which the State Home here is a member.

Other games Friday include:
Midlothian at Ferris.
Groesbeck at Palestine.
Teague at Fairfield.
Ennis, open date.

Last Week's Results:
Mart 26, Groesbeck 12.
Teague 9, Wortham 6.
Waxahachie 14, Ennis 0.
Lancaster 7, Ferris 0.

The district campaign does not open until Oct. 18.

ride the commitee's action. He told reporters that the CAA "couldn't build more than 10 per cent of them even if they got this money."

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the democratic leader, said he had decided to make no further efforts toward obtaining a recess agreement until next week.

RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR HIGHWAY 31 SECURED EXCEPT SMALL TRACT

MITCHELL MAKES REPORT ON WORK SECURING EASEMENTS DAWSON WEST

Authorization for the payment for right-of-way of the new Highway 31 from the Hill county line to Dawson with funds borrowed by the commissioners' court was made Tuesday morning. The settlement of the tax matter involving J. O. Sessions also was effected. All members of the court was present. W. M. Elliott, foreman on the Emhouse bridge repairs project made a report and recommendations on the work now in progress.

A. F. Mitchell, right-of-way agent, recently appointed to secure the right-of-way on the new location of Highway 31 from Dawson west to the Hill-Navarro county line, reported that all deeds from property owners had been placed in Dawson and local banks for the 3 1-2 miles with the exception of one piece of property belonging to a number of heirs, the J. A. Berry Estate. The property owners were given two and one-half times the assessed valuation, plus a fence and damages. The entire amount was put at $3,327.68, and includes all right-of-way fences and damages, except for the Berry estate. The right-of-way is from 120 to 160 feet wide.

To Borrow Funds

Upon motion of Commissioner C. O. Slaughter, seconded by Commissioner J. N. George, the county judge and county auditor were authorized to borrow the above amount from the First National Bank of Corsicana, Texas, to be paid back from the Bond Assumption Act found to be received later. All voted aye. A provision in the motion also provided that the bank will allow sufficient funds to be tendered the Berry estate.

Charles T. Banister, criminal district attorney, was authorized to immediately institute the condemnation proceedings against the Berry estate right-of-way upon motion of George, seconded by Slaughter.

The Sessions settlement involving the purchase of a tract of land on a tax sale in east Navarro county was completed with the returning of the $2,500 paid into the court for the land, plus $200 for interest. The contested sale was effected January 1, 1939. The motion was made by George, seconded by Commissioner C. M. Fitzgerald. All voted aye. The taxes since that time have been paid by the original owner, it was stated.

A report on work being done at the Emhouse bridge, other than on the main contract by E. W. Hable, was made by Foreman Elliott. Work already done on the approaches and the road to the temporary crossing was listed at $984.63.

It was stated the returns from the recent beer election will be canvassed and declared at the regular meeting of the court Monday, Oct. 14. A special meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 8, when officials of the Navarro County Wolf and Fox Hunters' Association, and farmers from various sections of the county will discuss the wolf and fox situation with reference to eradicating the animals.

A petition asking for the closing of a road two miles north of Corsicana a distance of 3227 feet, was granted.

An agreement was signed by the court with the First National Bank, allowing the sale of certain refinery properties near Angus, upon the guarantee of the bank that the taxes against the properties would be provided for when the question of the taxes has been decided. There is a disagreement as to the renditions of the rendilons of the properties in several years where delinquences occur, and it is expected the question will be decided in a court contest.

County Auditor E. Y. Cunningham was authorized to hire an additional assistant for his office to prepare the annual school report for the state superintendent. The pay will be $3 per day.

County Judge Paul H. Miller was authorized to hire a stenographer during the time needed while Mrs. R. L. Tatum, regular stenographer, is absent on a vacation.

HUNTERS ASSESSED HEAVY FINES HERE IN JUSTICE COURT

Of the two $247 in fines and costs, the state received $202.50 while the county received the remainder.

WAR GAS PRECAUTION.

The Japanese foreign office suggests that an embargo on gasoline affecting that country might be regarded as a violation of Secretary Hull's peace program, which is based on free trade.

We "don't get it." Peace isn't, and can't be, based altogether on unrestricted trade between nations. This is especially true when we have reason to fear that nations we are trading with are bent on war, against our interests if not directly against us. Since gasoline is today one of the foremost war materials, it would be plain dumb to continue giving much of our supply to countries under suspicion. We are going to need a great store of gasoline ourselves, held against emergency, and what we release to other countries should naturally be given only to nations that we know are and will remain our friends.

DRIVEN TO BEAUTY

Three rousing cheers! And women may join in them along with men. A millinery pundit in New York says that "silly hats" are out of favor and "women are going to be offered pretty and sensible hats this fall."

An expert reporter in this vital field of news says flatly that the milliners this fall are going to try to please men. This is a momentous and revolutionary undertaking. It isn't evident that the women who are to wear the hats are being consulted; apparently they never are—they just buy and wear what the milliners have been permitted to sell them by the invisible and inscrutable powers that manage such matters. But word seems to have come direct from the sacred sources of authority that "the hat makers have reached the limit of their ingenuity in the grotesque, the ugly, the ridiculous, and in order to change at all, in a business where constant replacements are the breath of life, the step must be in the direction of the beautiful."

Well, one reason is as good as another, if the result is O. K.

TRIBAL COLORS

A philosophic column contributor tells this story about ants.

He was doing some painting outside of his house and noticed two little black ants. They seemed to be looking for trouble, so he put a speck of red paint on one of them and it was soon red all over. Then the other ant was scared and started running away. He put red paint on it, too, and then the two were alike again, and they went about their business together.

But when they ran toward their ant relations who were scouting around, the latter were frightened and took to flight. He then daubed a dozen more of them in the same way, and they were all reconciled to their change because they were all alike.

But ten ants escaped the paint and hung together. And a little later, as he stood watching proceedings, ten black ants had started a war with the 14 red ants.

There seems to be a lot of human nature in those ants. And perhaps animals would behave in the same way. Men certainly do.

DANNY'S FAULTS.

When Danny's dame set out to tell
The faults of him she did it well.
Her tongue went on at fearful clip;
He smoked too much; he liked his nip;
Whene'er he wore his Sunday best
He spattered gravy on his vest;
His friends were loafers, fond of fight;
Dan stayed with them too late at night.
He seldom thought to brush his hair.
Dan squandered money at the fair
And lost his wage at risky things
Like spinning wheels and tossing rings
And paying men to guess his weight.

Nor all her prayers could keep him straight,
On Sunday mornings, late, instead
Of early mass, he'd lie abed
And be the last one of the flock
To get to church at twelve o'clock.
'Twas seldom Danny said a word.
He'd sit as though he hadn't heard
Or wasn't in the least ashamed
To have his failings thus proclaimed.
However, when his patience broke
He'd wave his glasses as he spoke,
"Just add them charges up!" said he.
"The sum of them, you'll find, is me!"

GREEK SHIPS

Europe is not yet entirely sealed against trade, even in the Mediterranean. It is reassuring to read that traffic has been reopened between America and Greece. The other day a steamer sailed from New York for Piraeus and Istanbul, and another left Piraeus for New York.

It is interesting also to observe that these enterprising vessels are owned and operated by the race that originated European civilization and dominated the Mediterranean 2,500 years ago. The Greeks have always been a trading and seafaring people. With half a chance, they might get maritime commerce started again in a continent now threatened with economic death, for lack of international trade.

RACIAL BUNK.

The enslaved Polish laborers in Germany, men and women both, are ordered to wear an armband with a purple P against a yellow, diamond-shaped background.

The reason is that Poles are declared unfit for intermarriage or even comradship with Germans. They are called second-rate people.

"German living space of the future will contain many non-German elements," says a Nazi authority. "Therefore it is important to educate our entire people up to the dangers lurking in such living together with foreign elements."

But Poles, unfortunately for the Nazi anthropoligical theories, look just like other folks. It is hard to distinguish farmer Poles from farmer Germans. So they have to wear the insignia on arms or chests to show their inferority.

Would Americans like to wear, thus, the letter A so their Nazi conquerors could tell where they came from?

PROOF OF BIRTH.

Now is the time for the young men, singly or in small groups, to get their birth certificates. Let them not wait and have to stand intolerably in line during the week of registration.

Many will want to prove that they are within the age limits set by the selective service bill. A few, doubtless, will need to prove that they are outside those borders. In either case, let them get busy now. Having the birth certificate at hand will save much time and trouble later.

It would help all round if a lot of young Americans, instead of asking what their country will do for them, would ask themselves what they will do for their country.

Italian invaders of Egypt have been fighting in a temperature of 110 degrees, and it may be hotter than that for them before they get out.

Man is the toughest thing in this world; he has outlasted the other animals because he has more endurance.

COUNTY VOTES DRY IN BEER ELECTION BY MAJORITY OF 641

COMPLETE UNOFFICIAL RETURNS TABULATED FRIDAY NIGHT BY DAILY SUN

Complete unofficial returns from the beer election held Friday in Navarro county showed the "drys" won by a margin of 641 votes, as tabulated Friday night by the Sun-Light Publishing Company. The final vote was for prohibition of the sale of beer 3003; Against 2362.

Beer had been legal in Rice, Corsicana, Richland and other places for the past several years, while under local option laws, the western and eastern sections of the county were dry.

The four wards of Corsicana, however, were decidedly "wet" with 1056 voting to retain the legal sale of beer to 524 opposing. A number of the smaller boxes voted "wet" but the 44 precincts outside of Corsicana rolled up a "dry" margin of 1183 votes to care for the deficit in Corsicana and give a decided margin for the whole county.

Charles T. Banister, criminal district attorney, Saturday morning said there had been a number of complaints to his office about the wording on the official ballot from both "drys" and "wets." Banister stated the wording on the ballot was exactly as set out in the statute dealing with such elections and had to be followed to be legal.

The petition for the calling of this election was presented the commissioners court early in the summer, but was withdrawn due to some technicality, and early this month was again presented. The court called the election and set Friday as the voting date.

The commissioners court will meet within the next few days to officially canvass and declare the results of Friday's election.

Results of 46 of the boxes had been received at the Daily Sun building at 8 o'clock Friday night, one hour after the polls closed.

HOFFSTETTER WILL CASE WILL BE HEARD BY SUPREME COURT

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Supreme Court proceedings today included:

Applications for writs of error granted: Millie Powers, et al., vs. First National Bank of Corsicana Texas, executor, et al, Navarro.

The above cause is in connection with the appeal of the Mrs. Hoffstetter will case involving a huge fortune left to charity with the bank as the executor. The case was admitted to probate in county court, tried in the district court here, appealed to the Court of Civil Appeals at Waco, and contestants then carried it to the Supreme court of Texas.

The writs of error cited above means, it was stated by attorneys, that the case was considered of such importance that the highest tribunal of Texas had decided to set the case down and try it to determine the law in the case rather than review the findings of the

INSTRUCTIONS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FOR DRAFT REGISTRATION

LYDA REED, COUNTY CLERK, GETS PRELIMINARY DATE ON OCTOBER 16 EVENT

Preliminary instructions have been received by Lyda Reed, county clerk, for the registration of men between the ages of 21 and 35, Oct. 16, in the national defense program, from the selective service headquarters at Austin. Included in the instructions was the proclamation of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel on that matter.

The instructions, addressed to the county clerk and commissioners court, revealed the county clerk is responsible for the registration in each county.

Registration of those within the age limits as set out in the selective draft will be at the usual voting places. The registration will begin at 7 a. m. and will close at 9 p. m.

One requirement is that the United States flag be displayed at the registering places. Registrars must be either under 21 or over 35 years of age. It is estimated the registration will be about 80 per cent of the democratic primary vote last summer. It is estimated that between 20 and 30 minutes will be required for the registering each person and for that reason a large number of workers are desired.

County Clerk Reed pointed out that anyone in the county that will work in this program to make written application to her office and many workers will required. No pay is provided for the workers.

Draft boards are to be set up in each county and for each 30,000 population, so Navarro County is expected to have two draft boards.

No intimation as to the personnel of the draft boards has been made, and officials about the courthouse state they have not received any information as to the membership of the county board or boards.

WAYNE R. HOWELL CHAIRMAN ADVISORY BOARD FOR DRAFT

GENERAL ELECTION OFFICIALS WILL HAVE CHARGE OF REGISTRATION

Wayne R. Howell, judge of the Thirteenth judicial district court Monday received his appointment as chairman of the advisory board for Navarro county in the national draft defense program from W. Lee O'Daniel, governor of Texas. Judge Howell has accepted the appointment and Tuesday said he had forwarded the name of an attorney for gubernatorial appointment as a member of the board. The name of the attorney suggested was not revealed pending word whether he is appointed by the governor, it was stated.

The law requires the appointment of an attorney. The advisory board, according to the proclamation of the governor, will appoint associate board members as they think necessary to carry on the work. The advisory board will give legal advice to those filling out the blanks, and officials in charge.

All details have not been given the local officials for the registration scheduled for October 16, but additional information and instructions are expected this week from state and national authorities.

Lyda Reed, county clerk, who will be in actual charge of the registrations, stated Tuesday that general election officials, other than men between teh ages of 21 and 35, will have charge of the registrations on October 16. Volunteer workers will be used.

NEW 1941 FORD

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skilful blending of mass with longer flowing-lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride. New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even livelier car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million motor cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many good reasons for making this your 1941 car.

RIGID EXAMINATION GIVEN APPLICANTS FOR FLYING CORPS

FLYING GENIUSES, STUNTERS AND COCKY YOUNGSTERS ARE QUICKLY ELIMINATED

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles on "Health for the New Army.")

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Flying geniuses, stunt pilots, cocky youngsters with only a few hours of solo work and youths who merely have an itch to fly are being eliminated in the preparedness program of the army air corps.

The 250 air corps flight surgeons, a number which will be increased to more than 1,000 within a year, are giving applicants for training the most intensive examinations possible.

"But we are looking for the average normal man and not the flying genius, or screwball, pilot," said Col D. V. N. Grant of the air corps.

Men chosen for training must be between the ages of 18 and 30; be in excellent physical condition with good eyesight and normal reflexes; be mentally stable; able to get along well with fellow students, and not develop the jitters in trying situations.

Army and navy flight surgeons said piloting a military airplane is the world's most trying job.

Must Be Able Co-ordinate.

"A pilot must be able to think with both hand and both feet as well as with his brain and co-ordinate all of them precisely and instantaneously," one surgeon explained.

"When flying at 200 or 300 miles per hour a pilot's reaction must be almost automatic. He has at the most only a few seconds to aim at a target and before he has time to think he is half-mile above, below, or beyond."

The necessity of selecting only the most mentally stable and most nearly physically perfect men as military pilots is indicated in the reports of Major Harry G. Armstrong, director of the Medical Research Laboratory at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

The strain of piloting an airplane up to heights of 20,000 feet or more while watching 20 or more instruments, listening to radio signals, and being subjected to cold, noise, vibration, and carbon monoxide from the engines wears upon the toughest of men. Added to all these is the strain on the blood system of dives, pull-outs, sharp turns and loops which drain blood away from the brain.

Human Element.

"The human element in flying is relatively the weakest link," Major Armstrong declared.

The trend of transport aviation at present is toward the stratosphere, 30,000 feet or more above the earth, with planes having sealed cabins and an artificial oxygen supply. However, in military planes produced in large numbers for the war emergency it may not be possible to equip them with such cabins.

As a substitute Dr. Walter M. Boothby, Dr. W. R. Lovelace and Dr. A. H. Bulbulian of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., have developed in co-operation with Major Armstrong a new oxygen mask which fits over the nose and mouth, contains a radio microphone, and leaves the eyes clear.

Colonel Grant said that at present approximately 55 per cent of all men chosen for training graduate as pilots.

Under more rigorous tests with the increased personnel of 700 additional flight surgeons drawn from civilian life it is estimated that 85 per cent of the picked candidates will qualify for flying duty.

GLADEWATER RODEO AND HEREFORD SHOW OPENS OCTOBER 14

GLADEWATER, Oct. 3.—(Spl.)—Brama bulls from the swampland of Louisiana have been procured for four nights beginning Monday, Oct. 14th.

In addition to a full rodeo performance, special and novelty acts include cow girls riding wild broncs, trick riding and roping, and the Ramsey Brothers from Tulsa, Okla., will trick and Roman ride their four head of educated horses, according to Bud Chambers, chairman of the rodeo committee.

Under the direction of B. F. Phillips, Jr., the first Hereford show will be held exhibiting some of the best animals in the state. No expense has been spared to make this the best show ever presented by the Gladewater Round-Up Asociation, at their $25,000.00 grounds and arena, three miles west of Gladewater, Texas.

SPAIN'S ECONOMIC SITUATION LET HER OUT OF AXIS PLANS

MADRID, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Spain's economic situation, so stringent that a military venture might have been disastrous, probably was the reason that Rome-Berlin axis has excused her from immediate active participation in the European war, informed sources said today.

They asserted that a careful study was made of the possibilities of Spain's supplying her vital necessities during the winter and the conclusion was that she is so short of food and fuel and certain other raw materials that she could not have fought successfully if she had wanted to.

Perhaps, too, it is suggested by some Spaniards, the German general staff remembered that war on the Iberian Peninsula was the beginning of the end for Napoleon.

Spaniards welcomed the word that Spain is to continue as a non-belligerent.

HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

By VERONICA DENGEL

FROM THE MAIL BAG.

A letter from a reader asks a question which brings to mind a discussion I had last summer. This letter reads as follows: I am 21 years old; married, and have three children. I would like to know if married women should wear ankle sox, saddle shoes, sloppy Joe sweaters, and bows in their hair for everyday wear (except Sundays). Or would that be too childish.

For sports wear—that is, active games such as tennis, golf, or outings in the woods or to the beach—sox are comfortable and healthful, and quite suitable for a 21-year old, even though she is married. Saddle shoes are a good combination with these. But let them be clean shoes—not those that are allowed to go on just to see how much dirt they can hold! As to "Sloppy Joe" sweaters—I'm not quite sure what you mean, but if you mean those sweatshirts with funny pictures and phrases on them, the answer is definitely "No." They are in poor taste for any one at any age. Bows in the hair depend on the type of person you are. If you are slim and childish—cute and petite—why not use bows about your house or off on outings for fun? They are attractive on many people.

On the other hand, do avoid these things when you go downtown shopping or to any gathering of other married women. Remember, they are not all as young as you are, and would resent your appearance of extreme youth. Nor would you be accepted into their maturer activities. Your marriage forces you to assume greater dignity and quiter manners than might otherwise be expected of you; and since you have chosen these responsibilities you must be consistent about it. Don't flaunt your youthful appearance in the face of your other married associates, whose children may be no older that yours. And I think your husband would prefer that you did not try to look like a high school girl—and have people say that he had spoiled your girlhood by asking you to shoulder so many duties at such an early age. Twenty-one is not too young to be married and have children if you are sensible enough to care for them properly. But teen-age clothes only make you look too young for all this.

J. D. writes: I've never tried removing my freckles, but this summer they seemed to be more noticeable than ever before. Would you advise me to use a freckle cream? My friend said that she used a freckle cream, and the freckles disappeared, but the next time she stayed in the sun for any length of time the freckles came back much faster and twice as many as before. Is this likely.

Freckle creams are simply bleaching creams—not permanent removal of the freckles. In the case of your friend the extra freckles only seemed more than before because she had become accustomed to the lighter tone after using the cream. The best preventitive is to stay away from exposure to sun and wind without using a protective cream. It is the old story of an ounce of prevention—protect the skin first, and there won't be the problem of eradication later. However, I like freckles.

MOTORIZED SECOND ARMY DIVISION BE SEEN STATE FAIR

GENERAL PUBLIC WILL GET AN OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN ABOUT WORKINGS OF ARMY

DALLAS, Oct. 3.—(Special).—Civilians will learn all about the workings of an army when the crack Second Division from San Antonio, only motorized division in the United States, visits the State Fair of Texas, Saturday, Oct. 12 and 13.

The division will set up a field baking oven on the fair grounds in the rear of the general exhibits building where, beginning at noon Saturday, it will begin making the famous army bread which is good for a month. The public will be allowed to sample this bread. The State Fair has ordered two cords of hickory wood for this use. A regular field kitchen will also be set up. Feeding will be just as the army receives while on maneuvers. The field kitchen and officers also will show how the army receives its supplies from rail head to campaign area, such as gas, oil and foodstuff.

All motorized equipment will be in place on the State Fair grounds by noon Saturday, Oct. 12, and an attendant will be in charge of each piece of equipment to explain it to the public.

The Second Division's 50-piece band also will be along and will give concerts free to the public. The drum and bugle corps also will be here.

The division will march in parade at 4 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 13, before a reviewing stand in front of the Hall of State. Military dignitaries will be in the stand.

The airplane flights will soar over the grounds of the State Fair throughout Sunday, which aso is Army Day. This part of the program has been arranged by Adjutant General Gaston S. Howard anad General J. Watt Page. The Second Division is commanded by Major General Walter Krueger.

SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENT LEADS TO BELIEF THAT MOST HUMANS POSSESS MIND-READING ABILITY

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A scientific experiment which indicates that probably most humans possess a little mind-reading ability is announced in the Journal of Parapsycychology.

Two hundred and fifty persons made sketches of 2200 pictures hanging on a wall, pictures which they never saw and of whose nature they had no hint, other than it was "not elaborate."

Among these "blind" copies 1209 were sufficiently like the originals to be interesting. Under the rules of chance this made the odds 30,000 to 1 in favor of some mysterious mental trait accounting for the likenesses.

The experiment was conducted by W. Whatley Carrington, English psychologist, in England. He gave each person a photograph of a study room, where at 7 o'clock on each night of experiment a picture would be pinned to the top shelf of a bookcase.

This drawing remained in place until 9 the next morning, and the person trying to copy it "blind" had the privilege of sketching his hunch anytime in that period.

The pictures were simple, like spinning top, horse, leaves, arm chair. One was a heraldic shield, and was imitated successfully. Once a calendar was left hanging by mistake close under the night's drawing, and that evening one person drew a calendar.

Carrington said it was not the picture but the idea, or word it represented, which was most often imitated. Thus a hand resulted in drawings of left and right hands, open and closed. Saturn's rings appeared as jewelers rings, and "ruler" as both governor and a scale.

He suggests that the idea of the picture passed from the mind of the maker to other minds. What this ability is he said he does not know, but that "it is likely to prove an attribute of all humanity with nothing alarmingly magical about it."

To Increase Any Air Force.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Plans for an increase in the army air force from 38 to 54 combat groups and six transport units were disclosed today in testimony of Gen. George C. Marshall before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Urging speedy approval of a $1,482,000,000 defense appropriation bill, the army's chief of staff told the committee in testimony made public today that the army planned to increase the air force from 95,000 to 160,000 men and needed more pilot instructors.

DRAFT LOTTERY TO BE HELD IN CAPITAL OCTOBER 21 TO 26

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The draft lottery to determine the order for calling conscripts into military service, officials said today, will be held here sometime between October 21 and 26.

The exact date will depend on the time required for local draft boards to report through their state headquarters to Washington on the results of registration October 16.

Major Ben Howell, director of the manpower division of the army-navy selective service committee, explained that after the drawing, at least another five days would be required to print and distribute the "master list" of serial numbers.

The place at which a registered man's serial number appears on this list will determine the order in which the local boards will send him a questionnaire for information on his eligibility for service and also the order in which, if he is eligible, he will be called up for a year's military service.

Thus with registration on October 16 it will be the end of this month or early November before the questionnaires are mailed.

Disclosing all this at a press conference, Major Howell also issued several "reminders" to persons subject to the draft.

When a man registers, the officer said, he should use "utmost care" in giving his correct address. Failure to receive mailed draft orders will not be an excuse for not complying with the orders he declared.

National guardsmen who resign when their units are called for service, he said, become subject to registration and conscription, just as other citizens, if they are within the 21-35 age limit. The law permits guardsmen to resign who are below the rank of captain and have dependents.

acquired from Britain last month. Plans for improving the first of the eight bases already were under way, he reported.

National Defense Speech.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The White House announced today that President Roosevelt would deliver a national defense speech from a special train at Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 12.

Stephen T. Early, White House secretary, said the president's Dayton address would be "non political" and would be carried free by three national radio networks. It will start at 8 p. m., central standard time.

The address, Early said, will be a review—a "straight narrative story on the defense program of the United States."

He added that it will be addressed not only to the people of this country, but to all the American republics—to the latter by short wave.

Since the speech will be made only four days before the date for registration for military service, October 16, Mr. Roosevelt will discuss the draft and the reasons for it, Early said.

Dayton will be the western terminal of a trip the President has planned for late in the week ending October 12.

Second British Oil Official In Rumania Kidnaped

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The British legation announced tonight that Percy Clark, 60, president of the Ploesti Oilfield Engineering firm, had been kidnaped from a leading Bucharest hotel by three men, possibly Iron Guardists.

It was the second such incident within two days.

The legation said that late this afternoon Clark was tricked into leaving the lobby of the Athenee Palace hotel opposite the Royal Palace by three men who spirited him away in an automobile.

Rumanian authorities said they could do nothing in the case.

The previous abduction was that of Director A. Miller of the British-Dominated Astra-Romma oil company.

Earlier today the Rumanian government delivered a formal reply to Britain describing as "unjustified" her protest against the treatment of five British subjects arrested on charges of sabotage in the oil fields.

The British minister to Bucharest, Reginald Hoarde, received the reply when he went to the foreign office to make an additional complaint.

BRITISH

by a bomb that blasted a laundry. Four others were injured seriously.

A train which pulled out of the Euston station, northwest of the center of London, was bomobed and machine-gunned while passing through a small Midland town. Three persons were wounded by bullets. Railroad men said the bombs missed and did no damage.

In Eastern London daylight anti-aircraft fire developed as heavily as on any recent night, residents reported.

In the Associated Press building the drumfire sounded like the "creeping" barrages of the World war.

There was a frequent "ping!" on the roof, to tell that bits of shells were splattering down.

It was by far the heaviest daytime action in the past month.

In a midlands town a single bomber showered high explosives and incendiaries. A factory and an elementary school were hit and it was feared one or two persons were killed.

One of the Nazi bombers fell a victim to British defenders at Hertingfordbury, near Hertford. When the plane came down two farm hands rushed out and made prisoners of four German airmen in it.

Twenty Districts Attacked.

Nazi air invaders loosed bombs on 20 districts of London last night and early today, but the capital's central section had its fourth consecutive night of comparatively light raiding.

Anti-aircraft firing frequently was heavy in the citys' outskirts as German warplanes returned for their 26th nightly assault.

The government said casualties throughout the country were few, and that there was no extensive damage.

British reporters continued to tell of the development of secret weapons for use against the raiders, and some sources credited a change in defensive tactics with the failure of the Germans to attack the central regions in force.

RAF raiders, bucking a near gale roamed across the English Channel again to strike at German communications, at oil targets, and at "invasion" ports on the French and Belgian coasts.

Abandon Plan Remove Children.

The government announced the plan to send British children abroad to escape falling bombs had been abandoned "until further notice" because of the sinking of the steamship City of Benares in which 77 children were lost.

Last night for the first time, the use by a German raider of shrapnel bombs was reported in a town in Southeast England. The bombs killed one man and injured others, damaging houses considerably.

In the same general area, several "Molotoff breadbasket" incendiary bombs burst over a famous boys' school early today, starting a roof fire which was extinguished quickly.

(Eaton and Harrow are in Southeastern England. Eton is in the vicinity of Windsor Castle, one of the king's homes.)

The nightly raid on London began on schedule just at the dinner hour, after six assaults during the day, all of which the British said were beaten off.

Other parts of England and Scotland were also subjected to the steady pounding of the bombers, which were supported for a time by big German guns on the French coast shelling the Dover area.

The British said 10 German planes were shot down during the day's incessant raiding, while one British ship was reported lost, and one German plane during night operations.

CHAMBERLAIN

so had forerast changes involving Minister of Information Alfred Duff Cooper and Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook.

Other Appointments.

Instead, Eden, Halifax, Duff Cooper and Beaverbrook were left in their respective offices.

Other government appointments were:

Viscount Cranborne, heretofore paymester general, became secretary of state for dominion affairs succeeding Viscount Caldecote. Viscount Cranborne formerly was undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, but resigned along with Eden in 1938.

Viscount Caldecote—lord chief justice, replacing Lord Hewart whose resignation is to be effective Oct. 12 and who is to be made a viscount.

Sir Andrew Duncan — minister of supply, succeeding Morrison.

Capt. Oliver Lyttelton—president of the board of trade, succeeding Sid Andrew Dunco.

Sir John Reith—minister of works and public buildings, a new cabinet post. He also was elevated to the peerage as a baron.

Lieut.-Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon—minister of transport, succeeding Sir John Reith.

Viscount Cranborne, Capt. Lyttelton and Lieut.-Col. Moore-Brabazon were named to the king's privy council.

Anderson Criticized.

Sir John Anderson, in succeeding Chamberlain, was moved after widespread press criticism of his air shelter policy.

Laborite Morrison, who replaces Sir John, has a reputation as a "livewire" and man of the people.

Another move apparently aimed at mollifying the public was the creation of the extra place in the war cabinet for dynamic Labor Minister Bevin, whose star British say definitely seems on the rise. Many observers already are calling him "England's next prime minister."

Besides Anderson, Bevin and Wood, the other inner cabinet members now are Churchill, Halifax, Beaverbrook, Laborite Clement R. Attlee, Lory Privy Seal; and Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio, also laborite.

Although the cabinet lost a pillar of conservatism in Chamberlain, the new list shows a strong conservative influence still dominates, thus reflecting the tremendous hold of the conservative party even with a "pretty rebel" such as Churchill in power.

Resignation of Chamberlain came as no surprise, since he underwent a major operation in July. He still is in need of rest. His friends report, and has been unable to get it in bomb-battered London.

"Shows Something's Rotten."

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The British cabinet shuffle drew from authorized German sources today a curt comment to the effect that "it shows something's rotten in England."

"Prime Minister Churchill under pressure had to sacrifice some to show that he's active, and old man Chamberlain came in handy," declared theshe sources.

FAIR FINANCIAL STATISTICS GIVEN CIVITANS THURSDAY

INSTITUTION FINANCIAL SUCCESS EVEN THOUGH ATTENDANCE DECREASED

Statistics revealing the financial status of the Corsicana Livestock and Agriculture Show following its recent exhibition were quoted by R. W. Knight, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, before the Corsicana Civitan Club Thursday noon at the Navarro hotel.

Charles T. Banister and Charley Bee had charge of the program and President N. Suttle Roberts presided. Banister introduced the speaker.

Pointing out that the fair was a financial success, Knight asserted that this was possible only through the reduction of expenditures due to the fact that attendance decreased considerably this year as compared with last year. As a result, Knight continued, the gross returns will be approximately $12,000 compared with the gross of $13,500 for last year.

Proceeds derived from various phases of the fair were outlined by the speaker. He said that receipts from the gate this year would be around $2,000 and that the gross receipts from the rodeo would total around $7,200, making the two largest sources of income. Money from smaller sources include approximately $522 from the carnival, $261 from commercial exhibits in the agricultural building, $308 from independent concessions on the midway and small donations by local merchants.

Knight said that the members of the Chamber of Commerce are thoroughly convinced that the fair is a vital part of the economic system of Navarro county. He said that results have already been noted throughout the county and predicted that within two years this section would be the most prosperous trade territory in the state.

In the business session the club authorized President Roberts to appoint a general program committee. Dr. J. W. David, Festus Pierce, and L. M. Morton were named to serve on the committee. Mitchell Boyd and Dr. S. H. Burnett were appointed as program committee for next week.

In The Purchase of a FARM TRACTOR This Season? If So, Consider These Things Well Before You Buy:

We hear so many people say, "We are going to buy from the man who gives me the most for my mules." What greater mistake can he make, for he is buying so much more than he is selling. And if he makes a mistake in the purchase what does it profit to get a few more dollars for his trade-in and owe more for less value in the end. First: Where can you find a Tractor that will pull a THREE DISK PLOW and a TWO-ROW BUSTER for less than $1000.00, other than a FARMALL B.

Second: The FARMALL B has the latest styles and conveniences built into it and its equipment, while others have the same they have used for years. (See our front planters).

PLANS WORKED OUT FOR ORGANIZATION DEMOCRATIC FORCES

JOHN C. CALHOUN HAS ACCEPTED CHAIRMANSHIP OF NAVARRO COUNTY

Plans have been worked out this week for organization of the Democratic forces in Navarro County for the approaching election, Nov. 5, and to raise funds for the National Democratic executive committee.

John C. Calhoun has accepted the county chairmanship, and will be assisted by Mrs. W. K. Steele, Beauford H. Jester, and Jake Hudson, vice chairman.

Representation at future conventions and party affairs is based on the vote cast in the general election, and those in charge of this campaign desire as large a vote as possible. Navarro County's quota has been placed at approximately $1,500. About $1,100 was raised in 1936 and $1,500 in 1932.

It is the purpose to seek many $1 contributions toward the quota in addition to the larger donations it was announced.

Chairman Calhoun has announced the following precinct workers to have charge of their respective communities in this campaign:

BISHOP HOLT WAS WORKERS COUNCIL BANQUET SPEAKER

DECLARES HITLER WORST ENEMY TO CHRISTIAN WAY OF LIVING OF ANY MAN

"Adolf Hitler is the worst foe to christianity, the christian way of living and its institutions and the Jewish race that the world has seen since the days of Nero." So declared Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Methodist Church before the Workers Council banquet held in the educational building of the First Methodist Church Monday night. The Bishop, discussing world christian fellowship, asked how the great world mission program and spirit could be carried out under the present world conditions and state that the missionary program of the entire world largely depended upon the churches and christians in the United States. He stated that the world would have to get back to a world christian fellowship before its problems would be settled.

The banquet was served by the women of the church to some one hundred, with others coming in to her the Bishop.

W. H. Norwood, chairman of the board of christian education, presided; Mrs. R. N. Elliott led group singing; Rev. R. W. Nation gave the invocation; short talks were made by the pastor, Rev. P. E. Riley; Rev. R. Otis Sory, district superintendent; Miss Aileen Carraway for the childrens division; Mrs. R. N. Elliott, for the young people's division; Mrs. Loyd Chambliss, for the intermediate league, and Boyce Martin, for the adult division. The benediction was given by Rev. Mr. Sory.

Rev. C. C. Sessions, pastor of First church, Kerens, and young people's director in the Corsicana district, spoke on the young people's work and the part young people would play in the new Methodist Church; Boyce Martin, program chairman, introduced the speakers. The meeting Monday night was one of the best attended so far held by the Workers Council.

At a meeting of the board of christian education Sunday afternoon and upon nomination of W. H. Norwood, T. H. Benton was re-elected general Sunday School secretary; Miss Doris Blackburn was named assistant; Mrs. Loyd Chambliss, director of the intermediate league; Miss Aileen Carraway, superintendent of the children's division; Mrs. R.
